

Argentine ants are very aggressive and will drive out native species of ants creating an environment where they are literally the "king" of the anthill.

This Argentine ant found her way back to the anthill, but needs help getting to her CHAMBER. You may go under a tunnel but not through a wall.